Revenue shows a sharp Q4 seasonality spike. November alone accounts for ~29% of annual revenue in both 2003 and 2004 — roughly 5–6x the monthly average. Mid-year (Jul–Sep) strengthened in 2004 vs 2003, indicating improved pipeline development. January–February are consistently the weakest months.

5 ACTIONABLE RECOMMENDATIONS

1 Capitalise on November Seasonality

November generates 5x average monthly revenue in 2003 and 2004. Launch Q4 campaigns from October 1st. Pre-position Classic Cars inventory (highest margin). Bundle Motorcycles with accessories to lift average order value across deal sizes.

Priority: HIGH	Impact: Est. +15–20% Q4 revenue

2 Accelerate APAC & Japan Expansion

APAC + Japan = only 14.9% of revenue despite being large consumer markets. Assign dedicated regional reps. Launch localised pricing for Singapore, Australia and Japan. Classic Cars and Vintage Cars are proven entry-point products with strong average deal sizes.

Priority: HIGH	Impact: Est. +$500K/year potential

3 Recover Cancelled & Disputed Revenue

$194K Cancelled + $72K Disputed = $266K recoverable at-risk revenue. Implement order-health scoring to flag high-risk accounts. Trigger proactive outreach within 48 hrs of any On Hold or Disputed status change to prevent churn.

Priority: MEDIUM	Impact: Recover est. $120–160K

4 Fix SALES vs QTY x PRICE Discrepancy

46.2% of records show SALES differs from QTY x PRICE — indicating undocumented discounts or fees. Add DISCOUNT_PCT and FEE columns to all ERP exports. Reconcile the data pipeline immediately to prevent distorted margin and commission reporting.

Priority: MEDIUM	Impact: Critical data integrity fix

5 Rationalise Trains & Ships Portfolio

Trains ($226K, 2.3%) and Ships ($714K, 7.1%) significantly underperform. Conduct a win/loss analysis. Bundle Ships with Classic Cars for EMEA cross-sell opportunities; consider pruning underperforming Trains SKUs to free up sales capacity.

Priority: LOW	Impact: Portfolio optimisation
